I. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Various psychopathologies of childhood and adolescence will be examined from a holistic perspective (including biological, psychological and social factors). Each psychopathology will be explored intensively with respect to its impact on the individual, the family and the community. Extensive examination of symptoms, causes, treatment and prevention approaches will be included. Special emphasis will be placed on assessment, case formulation and intervention strategies from the child & youth worker perspective..

II. LEARNING OUTCOMES AND ELEMENTS OF THE PERFORMANCE:

Upon successful completion of this course, the student will demonstrate the ability to:

1. Apply knowledge of standard developmental patterns from physical, psychological, social and cognitive perspectives to demonstrate an understanding of various psychopathologies.

Potential Elements of the Performance:

- Identify and reintegrate knowledge of normal developmental patterns from the various perspectives as applied to particular psychopathological case studies
2. Collect, analyze and organize relevant and necessary information from a variety of professional sources in order to develop effective intervention strategies which meet the needs of children, youth, families and communities.

Potential Elements of the Performance:

- Describe and utilize the classification and assessment processes applicable to the study of mental health
- Recognize and present the rationale for assessment of the signs and symptoms of the major areas of psychopathology in both oral and written formats
- Assess behavioural, developmental and psycho-social strengths and needs of clients
- Negotiate reasonable and realistic goals with and for clients and families

IV. REQUIRED RESOURCES/TEXTS/MATERIALS:

1. Behaviour Disorders of Childhood – Wicks Nelson & Israel
2. DSM-IV (4th Edition) – American Psychiatric Association

V. EVALUATION PROCESS/GRADING SYSTEM:

1. In small groups, students will prepare a paper on an assigned topic (according to guidelines to be provided in class) and will give a brief oral summary of same. The written document will be presented to the instructor for grading on the day of presentation. (10% for written submission and 5% for oral summary)
2. Immediately following the oral introduction, each group will present a case study which relates to their topic area, in accordance with guidelines to be handed out in class. Each group will also complete a factor table and treatment plan relevant to the case study. One copy of each will be submitted to the instructor, and each member of the group will retain a copy for use during the next phase of the assignment. (5% for factor table and 10% for treatment plan)

VI. SPECIAL NOTES:

Special Needs:

If you are a student with special needs (e.g. physical limitations, visual impairments, hearing impairments, or learning disabilities), you are encouraged to discuss required accommodations with your instructor and/or the Special Needs office. Visit Room E1204 or call Extension 493, 717, or 491 so that support services can be arranged for you.

Retention of course outlines:

It is the responsibility of the student to retain all course outlines for possible future use in acquiring advanced standing at other postsecondary institutions.

Plagiarism:

Students should refer to the definition of “academic dishonesty” in Student Rights and Responsibilities. Students who engage in “academic dishonesty” will receive an automatic failure for that submission and/or such other penalty, up to and including expulsion from the course/program, as may be decided by the professor/dean. In order to protect students from inadvertent plagiarism, to protect the copyright of the material referenced, and to credit the author of the material, it is the policy of the department to employ a documentation format for referencing source material.

Course outline amendments:

The Professor reserves the right to change the information contained in this course outline depending on the needs of the learner and the availability of resources.
