IV. REQUIRED RESOURCES/TEXTS/MATERIALS:

Kilpatrick, A. and Holland, P. (2003), Working with Families: An Integrative Model by Level of Need (3rd edition). Toronto, Allyn and Bacon.

V. COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

Participants are required to:

1. Attend and participate at a level reflective of a professional commitment to the human service field.
2. Prepare and present a parenting class and evaluate the team process involved in the presentation.
3. Complete all assignments in the appropriate format and on schedule.
4. Complete routine quizzes on material presented, discussed and/or assigned.

NOTE

Due to the nature and purpose of the quizzes and the logistics involved there will be no opportunity to write a quiz that has been missed.

DESCRIPTION OF ASSIGNMENTS

1. Critique of a magazine.

There is a wide variety of magazines available geared to parents and parenting e.g. Parents and Exceptional Parent.

Select one issue of any parenting magazine that is readily available. Note where the magazine can be purchased as well as the price of the magazine.

Once you have read the magazine in its entirety, comment on the following:

- Type and range of articles in the magazine.
- Comprehension level of the articles.
- Which, if any, of the articles are research based?
- Which article had the most impact on you personally? Why?
- What do you note about the advertising in the magazine?
- Is the cost of the magazine a problem for limited income families?
- As a consumer what attracted you to the particular magazine that you chose?
- Would you recommend this to a client? State your rationale.

* This assignment is to be typed and referenced in the appropriate format.

2. Using the assignment sheets, Television Messages about Gender Roles (attached) as a basic guide on what to look for;

- Watch 2 television shows of your choice for a period of three weeks.
- 'Family' shows and situation comedies etc. are shows that should be considered re: their portrayal of and/or their impact on family life.
- 'Cartoon' characterizations are inappropriate for this assignment.

In week three fill out the form for each set of programs viewed.

3. Prepare and present a "parenting" class. This will be presented in teams of three. The instructor and class will prepare a list of topics. Any additional topic areas will need to be approved by the instructor.

Presentation schedule will be drawn up as soon as is feasible.

Due to the time commitment and the nature of this class, the instructor cannot accommodate re-scheduling presentation dates. (Arrangements to change presentation dates may be made between groups, but notice in writing (duly signed) is to be submitted to the instructor well in advance of actual presentation dates.)

The parenting class will be presented to and a write-up submitted. The written format will include objectives, methodologies and a list of resources used or applicable to your topic. The resource list should be prepared for distribution to the class for future use. The presentation should be one hour in length and include:

- 1) promotion/advertising brochure
- 2) an introduction consisting of ice-breaker activities or some other type of professional group warm-up. There is provision for 5 min. prior and 10 min. post presentation for set-up and evaluation.

The presentation should be organized and follow a professional format. It needs to be practical and be based on theory. Presentations need to be creative and should seek to promote active group participation. In your future role as professionals it is essential that you gear your presentation to the potential comprehension and interest levels of your client groups.

In that this is a senior year presentation you will be evaluated on professional appearance and deportment additional to content and style.

Submission to instructor needs to be in the appropriate professional format.

4. Genogram and Family Profile

The use of the genogram has value as a source of information pertinent to intervention in families. In that this has such relevance it is important that the beginning practitioner has an understanding of the construction and application of the genogram.

It is in this regard that the participant is required to develop a personal genogram and family profile to enhance self-awareness and the role that this awareness plays in the delivery of quality support to clients and family groups.

See data file for “attachments”: Family Genogram, Family Development, and Family Journal. Requirements outlined in the file. Assignment need to be typed.

5. Collage: Students are required to construct and present a ‘family’ collage. Format will be discussed in class.

VII. SPECIAL NOTES:Special Needs:

If you are a student with special needs (e.g. physical limitations, visual impairments, hearing impairments, or learning disabilities), visit the Special Needs Office - room E1101 or call extension 2703 as soon as possible so that support services can be arranged for you. Subsequently you are encouraged to discuss required accommodations with your professors. All course objectives need to be met.

Communication:

The College considers WebCT/LMS as the primary channel of communication for each course. Regularly checking this software platform is critical as it will keep you directly connected with faculty and current course information. Success in this course may be directly related to your willingness to take advantage of the Learning Management System communication tool.

Retention of course outlines:

It is the responsibility of the student to retain all course outlines for possible future use in acquiring advanced standing at other postsecondary institutions.

Plagiarism:

Students should refer to the definition of “academic dishonesty” in the Student Code of Conduct. Students who engage in “academic dishonesty” will receive an automatic failure for that submission and/or such other penalty, up to and including expulsion from the course/program, as may be decided by the professor/dean. In order to protect students from inadvertent plagiarism, to protect the copyright of the material referenced, and to credit the author of the material, it is the policy of the department to employ a documentation format for referencing source material.

Course outline amendments:

The Professor reserves the right to change the information contained in this course outline depending on the needs of the learner and the availability of resources.

Substitute course information is available in the Registrar's office.

VIII. PRIOR LEARNING ASSESSMENT:

Students who wish to apply for advanced credit in the course should consult the professor. Credit for prior learning will be given upon successful completion of a challenge exam (if available) or portfolio.

IX. DIRECT CREDIT TRANSFERS:

Students who wish to apply for direct credit transfer (advanced standing) should obtain a direct credit transfer form from the Chair’s secretary. Students will be required to provide an official transcript and course outline related to the course in question.
