III. REQUIRED RESOURCES/TEXTS/MATERIALS:

Summers, Nancy (2009). Fundamentals of Case Management Practice: Skills for the Human Services. 3rd Edition. Brooks/Cole.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Methods of presentation will vary relative to subject matter. Due to the nature of this course and the academic demands of the semester, time will periodically be scheduled during regular classroom sessions to work on required group projects. Given the nature of the field you have chosen, it is essential that you develop teamwork skills. In this regard, it is pertinent that you attend and participate, in that, much of the "team" learning herein will be enhanced experientially.

Description of Assignments:

1. Skills Practice and Development

This assignment is two-fold. Students will be expected to lead and participate in in-class practice sessions and will be evaluated on their willingness to:

a. Lead a case management session for a particular client. Student will be given cases to review and then will be asked to set up, organize and run a 20 minute case management meeting. Classmates will act as participants in this meeting (i.e. client, family members and/or agency representatives). Students will have time to prepare for the meeting before being expected to present and will choose the date that they wish to complete their practice session.

b. Participate in case conferencing sessions lead by their peers. As a participant, students will be graded on their willingness to participate, their participation in the group itself and their ability to support the learning experience of their peers. Students will be expected to hand in one feedback sheet per group practice session. The student's responses on the feedback sheet will provide the instructor with an assessment of the knowledge acquired through participation, feedback and discussion related to the process of case management. A final mark will be given to reflect the student's comprehension and skill acquisition related to this type of approach to working with children and youth.

Students will need to attend class in order to participate in these practice sessions and gain the valuable learning experience of being a member of these sessions. Due to the nature of these exercises, students cannot be evaluated if they are absent.

2. In –class Casework Exercises

In small groups, students will work as mock case management teams to complete case reviews and clinical assessments. They will learn how to identify specific aspects of a clinical assessment and with their team will have the opportunity to discuss cases, explore the dynamics that are influencing the individual, family and situation and develop effective strategies and interventions to these cases as case managers. These exercises will provide the student with information related to the components of a clinical assessment and will help prepare them for completing an assessment in dyads, as part of their overall evaluation (see Clinical Assessment)

3. Clinical Assessment

In pairs, students will complete one Case Study for the case you have chosen. The assessment MUST follow the outline provided in the Student Package that will be distributed in the first class. Students will hand in a document that includes:

- ✓ A cover page which includes case study reference name, student name, course name/code and professor.

- ✓ The assessment which addresses all areas of a clinical assessment. These will be discussed and explored in class. Each area of assessment MUST be addressed even if it is to simply say that based on the case the information related to this area was not provided. You need to include how you will gather this information, if appropriate, over the course of treatment with this family. This shows the reader that this area was not overlooked and where more information may need to be gathered to complete this assessment.
- ✓ Students will be given time in class to work on these assignments throughout the semester.

4. Student will complete two (2) quizzes on material presented/readings

NOTE: Tests and group presentations need to be done on the assigned day. If a student misses a presentation date, there may be no opportunity to present on an alternate date. Students are expected to communicate with their professor in a professional manner regarding any difficulties that may arise in this regard.

Tests may be ONLY be rescheduled with instructor's permission PRIOR to the date of the test. If you arrive late for a test, you may enter the classroom and begin to write the test, provided no one has left the classroom.
