I. PHILOSOPHY/GOALS:

This course is designed to build on the skills developed in Group Dynamics I. Opportunities will be provided for the individual student to utilize skills in group process. The focus will be on child and adolescent group behaviour, especially in residential treatment. An emphasis will be placed on the student's role as a facilitator in group in this respect.

II. STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES:

Upon successful completion of this course the student will:

- 1) Develop skills in providing leadership to a group.
- 2) Explore the dynamics of group growth and decision-making
- 3) Develop a collection of group exercises appropriate for specific client populations (primarily - children in residential treatment).
- 4) To continue development of group counselling skills.
- 5) To continue the process of learning how our own values, attitudes, and behaviours affect others.

III. METHODOLOGY

The presentation of course material will vary depending upon the content being covered.
