Counselling Skills I OR permission from the Instructor

I. PHILOSOPHY/GOALS:

As a follow-up to Counselling Skills I, this course is designed to promote further exploration of dimensions of helping. New skills in supporting and motivating clients toward identified goals will be built onto the existing framework of attending skills. Client-centred skills are examined but the focus also will be on the "intentional" dimensions outlined by Ivey and Egan. Special areas will be introduced including: skills in crisis situations; helping skills in separation and loss situations; cultural issues in helping.

The focus on the student's self-awareness and skill development will be central to this course. Students must be willing to take personal risks in this course; however, it is not a therapy group for the participants. The nature of the helper's role will be examined from very personal viewpoints. Consistent commitment to personal growth, including risk taking and caring, will be rewarded. Mistakes lead to learning; risk leads to growth: each student can be prepared to encounter both, with the guidance and support of the instructor and encouragement from fellow students.

Practice and self-directed learning with video feedback will be featured. Applications of the skills in work with children and adolescents will be reviewed in an ongoing and experiential manner.

II. STUDENT PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVES:

Upon successful completion of this course the student will:

- 1) Have solidified skills in attending behaviour.
- 2) Have developed and demonstrated skills in various dimensions of influencing behaviour (as per CYW program objectives), and attitudes (including respect, genuineness and empathy).
- 3) Have developed and demonstrated skills in analyzing and evaluating counselling behaviour.

- 4) Have developed and demonstrated an ability to integrate skills into a unified process-oriented approach in helping and counselling.
- 5) Have identified and recognized the unique demands on the counsellor posed by crisis situations.
- 6) Have studied and used an eclectically-based, theoretical framework for counselling.
- 7) Have integrated skills of self-directed learning.
- 8) Have arrived at greater self understanding in terms of the role and attitudinal framework for helping.
- 9) Have demonstrated willingness to expand the limits of interactions.

III. METHODOLOGY:

- A. Each week the class will be in two parts. The first will consist of (some-or-all of): mini-lecture, review of assigned readings, study of counselling theory, viewing of modeling tapes, discussion and demonstration.

In the second part, the students will divide into sub-groups for non-role-play practice sessions. The instructor will outline the practice objectives each week. Students are advised to use their break-time to prepare for the demands of the practice sessions. Student progress and skill acquisition will be observed, and monitored during these practice sessions.

Students will be expected to attend all classes, prepare readings diligently and participate actively in discussion and practice. Time is precious in this course, so classes and practice will begin on time and task-related behaviour will be reflected in the instructor's final grading. The instructor will provide ongoing feedback in the form of verbal comment (informally and formally).

Readings must be completed on time, as assigned. The book "Loving Each Other" will be discussed in class and will be part of course material covered on the final exam, along with assigned material from the other texts and readings.

Demonstration of skills will be assessed at all times in this course (i.e. in and out of practice sessions).

B. TESTS: Mid Term: March 2, 1992
Final: April 20, 1992

C. SUBMISSION OF AUDIO TAPE:

Date: April 6, 1992
Length: 15 minutes minimum
20 minutes maximum

Subject:

Tape to be done with anyone except CYW or Correctional Worker student. The student helper should endeavour to appropriately use the skills studied to date.

Thus, there should be elements of what Egan calls "Problem Definition and Goal Development" reflected in the helping session. Goal setting should be one aim but whether the helper actually works on the "action stage is optional.

So, try to find someone who will let you work with him/her, in an objective fashion.

Audibility of the tape is crucial.

Absolute confidentiality is expected, and guaranteed from the instructor - the student counsellor must guarantee on tape his or her own adherence to confidentiality, and have this confirmed by the "client". The "Permission Form" must be completed and submitted with the tape.

D. TRANSCRIPT OF TAPE:

Due Date: April 6, 1992

Each student is expected to transcribe the first minute, the middle two minutes and the final minute of his/her own tape. Following each of the three segments, write a paragraph or two describing what you, the helper, were trying to do in that segment, how you did or did not accomplish that and an alternative approach. Following the entire transcription, write a paragraph or two with your reactions to the overall tape at that point.

Sign and date your transcript and ensure legibility. Double Space!
