III. REQUIREMENTS:

Field Work is conducted in an individualized learning mode. Students will meet with the professor, at the start of the placement. This meeting will be for sorting out the various assignments. Thereafter students will be in their individual placements. Even where more than one student is in the same agency, the placement learning process is individualized. The end result will be similar for all. The route each student takes will be specific to his or her needs, consistent with overall requirements, and responsive to placement agency circumstances.

- A. At the beginning of the placement, the students, with the assistance of the professor are to develop personal and professional performance objectives in the form of a Learning Contract. The student, the professor, and the agency supervisor throughout the placement monitor the goals. Goals are modified and additional goals developed during the course of the placement when necessary. The student, on-site field supervisor, and College faculty must sign the learning contract.

The student, the professor, and the agency supervisor will strategize and develop placement work assignments, which will provide opportunities for the students to reach their objectives. These assignments are monitored and modified throughout the placement.

- B. Students must maintain a weekly journal record of their activities, experiences, reactions and progress through the placement.
- C. Students will be required to maintain and submit College placement time sheets. This procedure will be explained. There may be additional reporting and monitoring requirements for individual students, as assigned by the individual placement or by the College professor.

D. Meetings between the professor and the student, and usually including the agency supervisor, will afford the opportunity to monitor the individual student's progress, as well as to teach and discuss other issues related to the particular student's placement. The professor will be prepared to provide advice and demonstration of such processes as treatment methodologies, methods of professional conduct, or instruct in such areas as intra-agency or inter-agency functioning and community development. Again, the focus is on facilitating learning at the individual student's level and circumstances.

E. EVALUATION

- a) Students will be required to develop and maintain a learning contract with performance objectives. This will be reviewed with the professor and revised as needed. The placement supervisor must sign all submissions.
- b) There will be two performance evaluations - one at mid-placement and one at the end. The evaluation will encompass the student's achievement of objectives, as well as their process of achievement and performance. Evaluation is coordinated and organized by the College fieldwork professor, with input by the Placement site supervisor and the student.

The College's format will be used for both the mid-placement progress report and the final evaluation. Each student will be fully aware of what is in his or her evaluations. The College professor then collates this information and assigns a final grade.

- c) Toward the end of the placement each student will be required to write a "Field Placement Review". This is to be submitted to the professor and the agency supervisor prior to the student's last day of placement. The professor will consider this in the final assignment of grade, along with the evaluations. The professor will provide the outline for this review.
- d) Punctual attendance at placement and completion of assignments will be considered by the professor in assigning the field grade.

Note: Fieldwork evaluation is subjective. It is not an exact science, and should not be regarded as an exact science. Agency circumstances change and student needs change during the course of fieldwork. The professor provides the consistency required for fair and accurate placement evaluation. Flexibility may be required and shall be seen as a professional skill.

ADDITIONAL NOTES:

1. Students are required to observe the SSW Field Placement Information and Policies. Each student will receive a copy of these at the start of the placement. Any breach of these policies, including items related to attendance, punctuality, attitude, confidentiality etc. could result in disciplinary action, suspension or termination of the placement.
2. Students are expected to read the "Professional Obligations", attached to this outline.
3. Students are expected to be familiar with the College's "Student Rights and Responsibilities" policies.
4. Punctual completion of assignments is required. Missed or late assignments are at the professor's discretion for substantial and substantiated reasons. Assignments completed following the due date may not be graded. To receive a grade in this course, all assignments must be completed and submitted to the professor.

IV EVALUATION PROCESS/GRADING SYSTEM:

Fieldwork is assigned an "S" or "U" grade ("S" = satisfactory completion of requirements); "U" indicates unsatisfactory completion or incompleteness of requirements or "R" (repeat). Additional comments in the evaluation form will identify particular areas of strength and areas for improvement. Students must be successful in SSW110 in order to continue placement in SSW200-8.

The following semester grades will be assigned to students in post-secondary courses:

Students who engage in “academic dishonesty” will receive an automatic failure for that submission and/or such other penalty, up to and including expulsion from the course/program, as may be decided by the professor/dean. In order to protect students from inadvertent plagiarism, to protect the copyright of the material referenced, and to credit the author of the material, it is the policy of the department to employ a documentation format for referencing source material.

Course Outline Amendments:

The professor reserves the right to change the information contained in this course outline depending on the needs of the learner and the availability of resources.

Substitute course information is available in the Registrar's office.

PROFESSIONAL OBLIGATIONS: (Keep in mind that you are an observer/trainee on this placement)

1. To regard the welfare of the individuals you serve, the agency, and the College (not always in this order) as your primary professional duty.
2. To hold yourself responsible for your professional conduct.
3. To be willing always to increase your professional competence and to willingly share your knowledge with others in your profession.
4. To strive to support the further development of your profession by participating to the best of your ability in related professional activities.
5. To work cooperatively with other persons having regard for their areas of competence.
6. To use clear communication in expressing your view on the findings, opinions, and professional conduct of colleagues, confining such comments to matters of fact and matters of your own knowledge.
7. To respect the privacy, dignity, and other rights of clients and fellow staff (see policy on confidentiality).
8. To use in responsible manner information received in the course of professional relationships.
9. To follow the Ontario College of Social Workers and Social Service Workers Code of Ethics (attached) where applicable to students.

Following are a number of guidelines pertaining to the student's relationship to the field placement agency in which he or she will be observing/training. It is imperative that each student comprehends fully and follows closely these rules to get the maximum educational value from the field placement experience.

1. Find out all you can about your field placement setting, its policies, functions, and general philosophy, taking care to ask pertinent questions.
2. Find out your designated role at your field placement location and follow it well. Remember that you are not on field placement in the capacity of diagnosticians but as students to follow through on the instruction of the field contact personnel. The Placement Site Supervisor must first approve new approaches to your assignments.
3. Ask the staff for guidance. Do not launch into something you know nothing about.
4. Be polite, courteous, and attentive. Remember that you are there to learn, observe, and work. Assertiveness is also expected, in obtaining feedback, getting information required, and in generating new ideas.
5. Avoid premature judgment on the program, which is carried out by a specific field placement setting. Remember you are a student learning and not someone there to assess the relative merits of the program. Be careful about being openly critical. Concerns about the service delivery can be discussed in the confidence of the supervision meeting, or with the College Professor or Placement Site Supervisor.
6. Clothing and personal deportment are according to acceptable norms of the placement setting. Remember that you are representing your profession, your College, and yourself. A high degree of professionalism is expected. Attendance and punctuality requirements are addressed in the "Program Policies", and under #9 below.
7. Be willing to share any information regarding clients in the setting with the relevant staff who works there.
8. Any problems encountered in your field placement should be taken to your Placement Site Supervisor. Never confront the staff with the problem in front of clients - wait for a private, appropriate time. Be diplomatic! Report all incidents to the College fieldwork professor immediately.
9. Make sure you are always on time for your placement and contact the field work supervisor and the field placement well in advance if it is necessary for you to be absent. See also the Field Work Policies for more on attendance and punctuality.
9. Remember that the experiences you have in your field placement are part of a learning experience and are to be held in the strictest confidence. The students will not discuss cases with others that have no direct relationships to the client. At the field placement keep your records and correspondence in a manner consistent with agency guidelines and policies.
