V. EVALUATION PROCESS/GRADING SYSTEM:

The evaluation of the course is divided between term work and the final examination. The term work is worth 75% of the course mark and is composed of one written assignment, three monthly quizzes, 10 learner preparation submissions and one group presentation. The final exam will count as 25% toward the final mark.

1.	Ten learner preparation submissions. Six on the well elderly (#1, 2, 3,4, 5, 6, 7, and/or 8) Four on the fi-aiJ elderly (#9, 10, 11, 12, 13, and/or 14)	10%
2.	Two monthly qui2zes (short answer & multiple choice) Topics to include changes occurring in normal aging, nutrition in the elderly, and assessment of physiological/psychosocial problems of aging.		20%
3.	Group Presentation on Frail Elderly.		20%
4.	Paper: Nursing Care Issues and the Frail Elderly		25%
5.	Final Examination covering the entire semester		25% 100%

Learner preparation submissions must be handed in at the beginning of scheduled class. Late submissions will not be accepted.

Marking schemes for essay and other assignments will differ fi-om professor to professor and fi'om assignment to assignment. Criteria for these assignments will be developed in collaboration with the students. This flexibility recognizes that assignments need to vary in approach to assist students with varying needs to meet the learning outcomes of the course.

Please refer to the Sauh College Student Handbook, and the School of Health Sciences Student Success Guide for policies and procedures regarding grades, evaluation, assignments, examinations and guidelines for rewrites.

GRADING SCHEME:

The following letter grades will be assigned m accordance with the School of Health Sciences Guidelines.

A+ Consistently outstanding = (90 - 100%)

GRADING SCHEME:

B Consistently above average achievement = (70 - 79%)
C Satisfactory or acceptable achievement in all areas subject to assessment = (60 - 69%)

- S Satisfactory achievement used only at midterm
- U Unsatisfactory achievement used only at midterm
- X A temporary grade that is limited to instances where extenuating special circumstances have prevented the student fi'om completing outcomes by the end of the semester. An "X" grade must have the Dean's approval and gives a student additional time to complete course requirements.
- R Repeat. The student has not achieved the objectives of the course and the course must be repeated.

VI. SPECIAL NOTES:

- Special Needs

If you are a student with special needs (eg. physical limitations, visual impairments, hearing impairments, learning disabilities), you are encouraged to discuss required accommodations with the instructor and/or contact the Special Needs Office, Room E1204, Ext. 493, 717, 491 so that support services can be arranged for you.

- Retention of Course Outlines
 - It is the responsibility of the student to retain all course outlines for possible &ture use in acquiring advanced standing at other post-secondary institutions.
- Disclaimer

Faculty reserves the right to modify the course as she/he deems necessary to meet the needs of the students.

- Substitute Course Information is available at the Registrar's Office.
- Academic Dishonesty

This includes plagiarism as well as any deliberate attempt to gain unfair advantage academically for oneself or others. Dishonest practices include fabrication of data, cheating, or the uttering of false statements relating to academic work by a student. Plagiarism can be defined as 'taking the ideas and works of another and stating them as your own. In a short, ugly word, it is stealing. When you use an idea new to you, whether you express it in your own words or in quoted words, state your indebtedness...In general, it is permissible and even necessary to borrow, but always inicate who the lender is" (Shaw, H., 1986, Handbook of English. 4th Canadian Edition, McGraw-Hill Ryerson Ltd., Toronto).

VI. SPECIAL NOTES (Continued)

Plagiarism should be distinguished from cooperation and collaboration. Often, students may be permitted or expected to work on assignments collectively, and to present the results whether collectively or separately. This is not a problem so long as it is clearly understood whose work is being presented, for example, by way of formal acknowledgement or by foot-noting.

In order to protect students from inadvertent plagiarism, to protect the copyright of the material referenced and to credit the author of the material, the documentation format for referencing source material will be defined by the professor. Refer to ENG120 for full information.

Students who engage in "academic dishonesty" will receive an automatic failure for that submission and/or such other penalty, up to and including expulsion from the course, as may be decided by the professor. See Sault College Student Handbook re: Academic Dishonesty.

Vn. PRIOR LEARNING ASSESSMENT:

Students who wish to apply for advanced credit in the course should consult the instructor.
