I. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course is designed to introduce students to models, principles and skills of case management. Students will explore the divergent approaches to case management within the helping field. A collaborative, empowering and strengths-based approach to case management will be emphasized. Students will examine the primary helping functions, barriers to implementation, and concrete tools toward collaborative case management.

II. LEARNING OUTCOMES AND ELEMENTS OF THE PERFORMANCE:

Upon successful completion of this course, the student will demonstrate the ability to:

1. Understand and analyze the different approaches to case management practices.

Potential Elements of the Performance:

- A) Define case management and its primary functions from the various perspectives studied.
- B) Analyze the implications of case management approaches on consumers.
- C) Evaluate your role as a social service worker and your conceptual framework of case management.

2. Develop collaborative, helping relationships with diverse populations.

Potential Elements of the Performance:

- A) Describe the principles, barriers and helping functions of strengths-based case management approach.
- B) Describe the key roles of a collaborative case manager.
- C) Demonstrate strengths-based assessment/intervention skills.
- D) Ensure the basic rights of service consumers are honoured and protected.
- E) Maintain professional helping relationships, which adhere to ethical and legal standards.

3. Develop an understanding of client and community empowerment.

Potential Elements of the Performance:

- A) Describe community development activities.
- B) Define and recognize advocacy as an important case management role.
- C) Identify systemic issues, which oppress or negatively affect consumers.
- D) Develop effective participation by community members in social change efforts in a manner that challenges existing power relationships.

III. TOPICS: (The following ideas may be addressed)

1. Introduction to case management (definitions, theoretical frameworks)
2. Divergent approaches: A comparison
3. Empowerment/Strengths Based Approaches
4. Principles, skills and strategies of case management.
5. Ethics, values and responsibilities.

IV. REQUIRED RESOURCES/TEXTS/MATERIALS:

Spindel, P. & Nugent, J. (2000). Case Management Redefined: Putting Empowerment into Practice. Scarborough: Nu-Spin Publishing.

Summers, N. (2001). Fundamentals of Case Management Practice: Exercises and Readings. Scarborough: Nelson Thompson Learning.

METHODOLOGY:

This course will consist of lectures, classroom discussions, group and dyadic work. Students will be expected to be prepared for each class (readings completed) and actively participate in the learning process.

VI. SPECIAL NOTES:Special Needs:

If you are a student with special needs (e.g. physical limitations, visual impairments, hearing impairments, or learning disabilities), you are encouraged to discuss required accommodations with your instructor and/or the Special Needs office. Visit Room E1204 or call Extension 493, 717, or 491 so that support services can be arranged for you.

Retention of course outlines:

It is the responsibility of the student to retain all course outlines for possible future use in acquiring advanced standing at other postsecondary institutions.

Plagiarism:

Students should refer to the definition of “academic dishonesty” in Student Rights and Responsibilities. Students who engage in “academic dishonesty” will receive an automatic failure for that submission and/or such other penalty, up to and including expulsion from the course/program, as may be decided by the professor/dean. In order to protect students from inadvertent plagiarism, to protect the copyright of the material referenced, and to credit the author of the material, it is the policy of the department to employ a documentation format for referencing source material.

Course outline amendments:

The Professor reserves the right to change the information contained in this course outline depending on the needs of the learner and the availability of resources.

Substitute course information is available in the Registrar's office.

Special Notes:

1. All written submissions must be in word processing format and follow APA guidelines.
2. Students are expected to be familiar with and abide by the College's “Student Rights and Responsibilities” policies.
3. Missed tests or late assignments are at the professor's discretion for substantial and substantiated reasons. Students are responsible to discuss directly with the professor.

VII. PRIOR LEARNING ASSESSMENT:

Students who wish to apply for advanced credit in the course should consult the professor. Credit for prior learning will be given upon successful completion of a challenge exam or portfolio.

VIII. DIRECT CREDIT TRANSFERS:

Students who wish to apply for direct credit transfer (advanced standing) should obtain a direct credit transfer form from the Dean's secretary. Students will be required to provide a transcript and course outline related to the course in question.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

1. Article Summary Report

Research, select and review one article on case management in the helping field. (Article must be current, within the last 5 years and from a professional source).

Learning Objectives:

- to research relevant published material
- to demonstrate ability to synthesize material
- to demonstrate ability for critical thought and develop commentary on article

No more than ½ of submission is to be a summary. Your commentary can include your reactions and feelings to the material, how it relates to class discussions, readings, the usefulness of the article to practice and implications for future study/research.

Length of Assignment: Minimum three pages, double-spaced, #12 font.

Due Date: Friday, October 5, 2001

2. Strengths/Barriers/Plan Assignment

Students will complete this assignment using a client situation from their field placement or a case scenario supplied by the professor in class. Students will complete the following:

1. Strengths Identification/Assessment of client situation.
2. Barriers Identification of client situation.
3. Plan for addressing issues.

Students may use the outline provided by the professor in class for the above tasks (refer to Spindel, P. & Nugent, J. (2000).

In four-five typed pages, describe/discuss how this exercise provoked thought. Share your thoughts, reactions about employing a strengths/empowerment approach with clients. Describe the social work values, techniques you would employ in working with this client situation. Discuss how your plan may have been different within traditional case management models. Finally, describe your preferred vision of case management.

Due Date: Friday, December 7, 2001

Participation and Attendance:

Students will be expected to come prepared to class (completed readings/case examples, in-class assignments) to facilitate group learning and participation. Grades assigned for attendance and participation will reflect the student's knowledge of the content discussed, willingness to share thoughts about the material, and ability to entertain views different from their own. Final grade is at the discretion of the professor.

Mid-term and Final Exam:

Exams will be completed in class. The professor in class will confirm dates. Exams will be based upon the assigned readings, classroom lectures and discussions. Additional instructions will be provided.
