COURSE PHILOSOPHY

The importance of the early childhood years is currently recognized by most professionals. The infant is seen as an individual with strengths and needs which are to be interpreted and promoted by the sensitive caregiver.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

1. To give the student an understanding of the physical and emotional needs of the individual infant and/or toddler in both their home and a group setting.

2. To enable the students to compare and evaluate some of the current theories in research in the field.

3. To develop a personal philosophy toward infant/toddler care and learning.

COURSE GOALS

The student will:

1. Demonstrate the ability to recognize and meet the physical and emotional needs of an individual infant and/or toddler, in both the home and the group setting.

2. Carry out a child study assignment involving observations and individual program plans.

TEXTS

NOTE: Facilitation of learning will take place through class discussions, assigned readings, class presentations and films.

EVALUATION SCHEME

1. Child Study Assignment - 35%

The student will prepare an individual program plan based on home visit observations and a Developmental Profile. Also, the student will make arrangements to have the child visit the class and give a presentation/demonstration outlining child’s baseline skills. The IPP activities will be assigned and explained to the parent. The child’s progress will be summarized and conclusions made.

a) IPP Observations, Due November 22th, 1991
b) Class Presentation - scheduled in class
c) Summary, Completed Project Due December 6th, 1991
2. Paper Debate

Students will review current (within the last five (5) years) literature (journals, books, magazines) and decide on a potential debate topic. Initial research will determine the availability of information and help the student clarify reasons for the choice of topic. In-depth study of accessible material will provide the basis for a discussion of the pros and cons of the chosen issue. A summary will emphasize the student’s conclusions based on impartial judgements of research material. Students can collaborate on the debate material but must submit a separate paper elaborating on their own views for the summary.

Debate Topic - Due: September 27th, 1991
Pros/Cons/Summary Due: December 6th, 1991

Procedure:

Part I

a) Choose an infant or toddler (2 months to 28 months) and visit in his/her home environment twice, with as close as possible to four weeks between visits. (One to two hours each visit) Prior to the 1st visit you should refer to infant development resources such as "The First Twelve Months of Life" - Frank Caplan and "The Second Twelve Months of Life" - Frank and Theresa Caplan.

b) Complete the following during each visit:
   1. Observation Summary Sheets
   2. Anecdotal Record (an objective, detailed report or running observation of what you see)
   3. The "Sample Development Profile"
   4. Developmental Landmarks observed during the visit

Part II

a) Based on the information provided by the parent(s) and on your observations used to complete the Developmental Profile, determine the Basal and Ceiling Levels for each developmental area. Chart these for each visit.

b) Discuss the developmental changes between visit one and visit two.

c) Summarize the child’s current abilities and areas needing growth by making a Strengths/Needs list.

d) Priorize the "Needs List" and determine an appropriate individual programme for the parent to carry out with the child at home. This should be done in consultation with the course teacher. Activities must be planned for each of the five major developmental areas.

Part III

a) Complete an "Activity Assignment Sheet" for each suggested activity. Directions for the task must be clearly stated. Have parent carry out the activities for two weeks.

b) Summarize the I.P.P. indicating the following:
   1. Baby’s (Parent’s) response to the activities
   2. Was each activity appropriate? Why?
   3. Discuss possible changes and possible activities to progress further up the developmental ladder.
