employment in social services professions where skills of clarity, accuracy and conciseness are necessary in both written and oral communications. Also special emphasis is placed upon adopting tone and jargon to the intended audience. Projects are designed to increase the student's skills in locating, gathering and organizing information from professional journals and community agencies.

The course also aims at increasing the student's awareness of formal and informal communication networks within and between agencies.

ADVANCED CREDIT

Students who have complete a similar post-secondary course or who have relevant employment-related experience should consult the Co-ordinator of the Language and Communications/Social Sciences Department in Room E472.

TEXTBOOKS

Students will be responsible for using a variety of articles from human services periodicals and professional journals. Students will also need a copy of "A Resume Guide" (available free of charge from the Counselling Office, Room E134).

SUMMARY OF OBJECTIVES

1. Students will demonstrate the ability to adapt the format, tone and diction of a communication to the needs of a specific audience in a given situation.

2. Students will develop skills in locating, gathering and applying information during the preparation of written and oral reports.

3. Students, in their written assignments, will demonstrate the ability to produce clear, accurate well-organized text in formats such as the letter, memo, proposal and pamphlet.

4. Students will give well-organized, coherent, effective oral presentations, using visual aids where appropriate.

5. Students will prepare an effective job-application package comprising the letter of application and the resume.

6. Students will demonstrate comprehension of program-related material from professional journals by producing an accurate summary that reflects the emphasis and tone of the original article.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

A variety of methods including classroom presentations, small group discussions and directed readings will be used to respond to student's needs.

Evaluation will normally be done by the instructor, but in some assignments, peer evaluation will be required.
