PHILOSOPHY/GOALS:

This course is designed to give the student an understanding of the mentally retarded in relation to today's society. With the trends of normalization and the focus on the needs of the mentally retarded, it is important that the D.S.W. student view the influences in the community and the services available to meet these needs. This environmental awareness will facilitate the student's ability to improve the quality of living for the developmentally handicapped in his/her environment.

This course will study the relationship of the retarded in his/her family, peers and community and his/her position to these at various levels of development. The social relationship of the developmentally handicapped individual to the community will be examined along with current issues related to the field of mental retardation.

METHODOLOGY:

Learning will be facilitated by: lecture, class discussions, films, reading assignments, guest speakers in the relevant areas and the student's individual seminars. The student is responsible for all of the above for assessment. Additional material may be added during the course.

EVALUATION:

1. To maintain regular attendance.
2. To complete assigned reading and research and be prepared to discuss in class.
3. To participate actively and fully in class activities.
4. To become actively involved in individual and group presentations.

85% - 100%	A
75% - 85%	B
60% - 74%	C

TERMINAL/BEHAVIOURAL OBJECTIVES:

- a) The student will develop an understanding of the needs of the mentally retarded person and his family.
- b) The students will be able to compare traditional institutional services to developmental models.
- c) The students will be able to identify problems that occur with institutional change.
- d) The students will be able to analyze the normalization process.
- e) The students will have an orientation to the laws which affect the developmentally handicapped.
- f) The students will be able to discuss both the myths and society's attitude toward sexuality and mental retardation.
- g) The students will plan and present a seminar to the class.

Seminar Assignment:

The student is to select a topic dealing with the mentally retarded person in today's society. He/she may choose an area from the list discussed in class or one that has been approved by the instructor. At least three valid and current resources must be utilized in gathering the information. A typewritten report of not less than two pages, summarizing the "class period" seminar, must be submitted on or prior to the day of the presentation. Individual dates will be assigned during the second week of school. Additional readings and/or student viewings of audio-visual materials may be assigned during the course at the discretion of the instructor. (The seminar mark will be reduced by 10% if the outline and report are not handed in to the instructor, meeting the above criteria.) The instructor will meet with the student to approve the outline, content of the seminar, and to review the project.
