

Course Description: General Goals And Methodology

This course SAULT COLLEGE OF APPLIED ARTS & TECHNOLOGY SAULT STE. MARIE, ONTARIO

Course Objectives: Specific Learning Behaviors

COURSE OUTLINE

By the completion of the course students will be able to do the following:

Course Title: INTRODUCTION TO SPEECH

Code No.: ENG 145-3

Program: GENERAL ARTS AND SCIENCE

Semester: SECOND (3 Hours per Week for 15 Weeks)

Date: JANUARY 1991

Author: LANGUAGE AND COMMUNICATION DEPARTMENT

New: _____ Revision: X

APPROVED: [Signature] N. Koch
Dean

1991 01 10
Date

Course Description: General Goals And Methodology

This course enables the student to design and deliver speeches of several kinds, and for several purposes and audiences. The carefully designed exercises help build confidence in beginning speakers through knowledge, technique, and practice.

Course Objectives: Specific Learning Behaviors

By the completion of the course students will be able to do the following:

1. Name types of speeches, state the type most appropriate to a given situation and write out the basic format for a speech.
2. Step up to speak with a stride and bearing that conveys enthusiasm and confidence, and maintain rapport with the audience through effective eye contact, posture and delivery.
3. Present an effective demonstration speech.
4. Analyze a speaking situation in terms of audience and purpose, and select appropriate topics and strategies for given speaking situations.
5. Present a five-minute speech in response to a specific purpose and designed for an audience other than the class.
6. Prepare a speech outline which effectively uses appropriate data (as opposed to unsupported generalizations and other propaganda techniques).
7. Deliver an extemporaneous speech in an appropriate tone, and with confidence enthusiasm and sincerity.
8. Use one of several patterns of organizing the discussion part of a speech.
9. Use parallel wording and sentence structure as well as smooth transitions to enhance the organization of a speech.
10. Design and use effective introductions for speeches.
11. Write a critical analysis of a speech.
12. Present an effective ten-minute speech that persuades the audience to accept the validity of the speaker's view of some national issue.
13. Use humour appropriately.
14. Design and deliver an effective speech of fifteen to twenty minutes.

15. Participate effectively in panel discussions and debates as a demonstration of acquired skills.
16. Evaluate the speaking skills of their peers and themselves and make specific constructive suggestions for improvement.

Methodology:

A wide variety of learning techniques will provide theoretical knowledge. These will include videos, classroom presentations and discussion, lectures, guest speakers, directed readings, games and programmed materials. The students will then apply this theory by delivering speeches to the class and/or other audiences, and will evaluate the performance of their peers.

Course Evaluation:

	%
Two minute prepared speech	5
Two minute impromptu speech	5
Ten minute demonstration speech	10
Ten minute information speech	10
Ten minute persuasive speech	20
Debate	15
Critical Analysis	15
Participation *	20
Total	100%

- * Participation involves attendance, review and evaluation of other speakers, as well as positive contribution to class discussion. Attendance and participation are essential to this course.

After three classes have been missed two marks per absence will be deducted from the participation %.

Final Grades:

A+	86 - 100%
A	80 - 85%
B	70 - 79%
C	60 - 69%
R	Below 60% (Repeat - The student has not achieved the objectives and must repeat the course.)

Textbook and Supplies:

Speaking Our Minds (A Guide to Public Speaking for Canadians) by Sandie Barnard. Prentice Hall.

GAGE Canadian Dictionary, GAGE Educational Publishing Company.

Overhead transparency and blue/black water soluble pen.

