I. COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course focuses on the learner's personal discovery of self and self in relation to others. Through interaction and reflection, emphasis is placed on understanding how select concepts relate to and impact on our experiences with self and others.

II. LEARNING OUTCOMES AND ELEMENTS OF THE PERFORMANCE:

Ends-in-view:

This course introduces learners to a guided exploration of self. As opposed to 'self analysis', it focuses on illuminating aspects of self as a precursor to the development as a professional. The transformation from a self focus, towards being a nurse requires that the student continually reflects on the presence of self for an understanding of living the nursing role. As a complement to the learning process, Johns' (2006) concept of reflection will facilitate the expansion of the personal blueprints of thinking, to begin charting a way in becoming a nurse.

Process:

This course, through guidance and dialogue with others, especially with peers, is experientially based. Student learning emerges from various learning activities such as class and group discussions, as well as guided reflection. The learner is expected to think about self in relation to choices and behaviours as a basis for structuring the reflective process. The learner is expected to bring to each class preparatory and reflective work to help guide their learning.

Although the materials selected for classes facilitate self-directed learning, participation in preparatory and in-class work is highly recommended. The intent of the materials is to engage the learner in the challenge of becoming a nurse. As a learner in a professional school, he/she is encouraged to find 'critical peers' and to access other forums for collegial exchange. In relation to NURS1006, you will be required to write structured reflections based on Johns' (2006) model to be integrated within course assignments for NURS1206.

As the learner, you are encouraged to read this outline and the course assignment/learning activity package in complement with the student manual. Browse through the course information to get a sense of the course in its entirety. Note due dates assigned for the preparatory and assignment work. As you progress through this course, keep in contact with the course professor. This will help prevent confusion and alleviate concerns you may have regarding the course.

This course is supported by Learning Management System (LMS). Please check this course site frequently for updates.
